All visitors are encouraged to visit classes during this time.

Student Body To Complete Voting Wed.

With nearly four weeks of continuous balloting behind them, the Student Body prepared this week to complete its spring voting stint with the election of the 1955-56 Student Senate Wednesday.

Election of three class presidents this week and of Student Body President and vice president April 18 has already placed five in the new Senate. This week the Student Body will elect its Senators through class Senatorial primaries on Monday and Senatorial finals on Wednesday.

Dick Lehmann, New Richmond, Minn., defeated Paul Wittenburg

in a special runoff election Thursday to become 55-56 senior class president.

Miss Ott, Beulah, N. D., was chosen as Homecoming Chairman and junior class president. Erv Jensen, DeWitt, Neb., will administer the Homecoming Affairs.

Nominated to run for student senators in the primary election held yesterday were the following: Seniors: Edith Badenschneider, Elaine Dieter, Delores Geyer, Jean Pfeiffer, Betty Wittenweyer, Duane Brown, Merle Funk, Joel Marang, Walt Flegman, Paul Wittenberg and Bob Vogel.

Sophomores: Carolyn Adix, Joan Detmann, Jean Olman, Glen Schindler, Helen Schewerl, Glen Altmann, Leon Bauer, Myrin Bertz, Charles Buchel, Darrel Beckmann, John Gabel, Harold Hinrichs, Richard Larson, Ed Schneider, Gary Terrance and Eugene Van Griel.

Freshmen: Anna Donna, Joyce Gayer, Judy Geyer, Janeker Rosman, Ann Langberg, Nancy Matis, John Adix, Bruce Fredreke, Harold Kartz, Stan Vogel and Erv Vorthmann.

Trumpet Hits Sour Note

Last week the TRUMPET erroneously reported that the Executive Council "approved" the action of the Administrative Council in creating a Student Union Council.

This is in error since the Administrative Council has no official voice in all such matters, outranked only by the Board of Regents and the Lutheran Church. The F.S. Council was merely the agency that forwarded the Stu-Pu plan to the Administrative Council.

Also the F.S. Council nominating committee was directed to compile a list of five Stu-Pu Council candidates from each class, not 10. Candidates may hold other student government offices.

Sandberg Featured Speaker At J-S Banquet This Evening

Sandberg

St. Paul's Parish House To Be Scene Of Gala Affair's 'Wishing Well' Setting

Dr. Edwin T. Sandberg of the English Department will be the featured speaker for the Junior-Senior Banquet at 6:30 tonight in St. Paul's Parish House.

Coming here from Baena Vista College, Storm Lake, Dr. Sandberg joined the faculty in 1953. He also taught at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., and Grand View College, Des Moines.

Dr. Sandberg received his B.S. and M.A. degrees from the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis and his Ph.D. from Indiana University, Bloomington. A Map of Utopia is the topic Dr. Sandberg has chosen for his address.

'Wishing Well' Theme Predominates

Carrying out the "Wishing Well" theme, decorators for the banquet have erected a high wishing well on the stage. A trellis with flowers and brick walls also adds to the stage decorations.

Not cups will present little oaken buckets, while the candles and other decorations will feature green, white and yellow colors. Blue crepe paper will be used for the artificial ceiling.

Bob Vogel, junior, will act as toastmaster, while freshman Charles Beards, The Holyday Four, men's quartette composed of senior Deane Hutchinson, juniors Joel Marang and Bill Wedemeyer and sophomore Dennis Larson; and sopranos Norvalene Black and Bernice Schindl will provide entertainment.

Photographer Available

A photographer will be stationed in a side room for guests who want pictures taken.

Junior co-chairmen Evan Dieck and Joan Pfeiffer announced that 240 are expected to attend the banquet, which will be served by St. Paul's Women's Society. Seniors and their class advisers will be guests of the Junior class.

Committee chairmen include Eugene Steinhilber, decorations; Paul Wittenberg, publicity; Lowell Hinton, tickets; Merle Funk, finance; return, Geyer, food; Joel Marang, entertainment; Jackie Reints, checkroom; and Wilbur Meekins, cleanup.

Union Nears Finish; 'Ready In June'—J. Ellis

Construction on the new Memorial Union is rapidly nearing completion and, according to John Ellis, construction superintendent, barring unforeseen difficulties, should be ready for occupancy sometime in June.

During the past few weeks, pouring of terrazzo flooring and stairways has been completed, and the kitchen of the new cafeteria has been tiled. All plastering is to be finished this week.

Installation of light fixtures, woodwork, and floor tile for the chapel's stained glass windows will conclude construction of the building proper.

If exterior grading and landscaping and the construction of sidewalks are finished in June, the building will be ready for use a full month before the contract completion date of Aug. 1.

Senior's Impression Important

The flood gates will be let down next Wednesday morning, and several hundred high school seniors will pour across Wartburg's campus in quest of a taste of college life.

The history of Wartburg's annual Spring Senior Day is long and successful. Both the attendance figures and the enthusiasm with which seniors have responded in recent years are solid indications of Wartburg's growing prestige among Iowa colleges.

Just what is Senior Day? What is its purpose and what does it accomplish? At first glance, a college visitation day is generally thought of simply as a strong propaganda device to make the coming year's rosters bulge. However, Senior Day is much more than that when it is considered in wider perspective.

To many high schoolers Senior Day is the time for decisions, decisions which may map the course of the rest of their life.

"Am I going to go to college at all?" "What subjects will I want and need if I go on to school?" "What do I want to do in life?" These are all individual questions which may be answered during a college visitation day's glamour.

When the scope of a high schooler's questions carries the magnitude indicated above, a load of responsibility is laid on the shoulders of the college which is the job of Wartburg's student body and faculty, therefore, to paint a true picture of college life at the "Home of the Knights."

Don't take this responsibility lightly. A human being's future may depend on the impression you create this Wednesday.

By Jerry Haver

Wouldn't want to glory in my own class, but I see Dr. Hulme is planning to graduate with us and then go down to the Sen with some of the boys.

Why is it that every time we don't have classes, Iowa's unbleached socks begin to precipitate rain? If everything goes the usual damp path, the banquet's Wishing Well will be overflowing. This year's well will be bathing suits and water wings with water lilies worn about the neck.

Waverly's fire department was on campus the other night, soaking the parked earth with gallons and gallons of water. Don't travel to Yellowstone... stay in the nation's vacation land at Wartburg and see Old Nozzle erupt every hour on the hour.

I can tell that Senior Day is almost upon us again. All the men in Grossmann are getting their clothes cleaned and are holding boxes every night to see who has to clean the rooms. The single ones are purchasing bear traps. No doubt planning to catch bears.

It Happens Every Spring Department: Profs suddenly discover that with four weeks of school left, they have over half the book to cover.

I was talking to a group of my friends the other day and HE had this to say about the class of '55. "Graduates today, unemployed tomorrow." HE's dead wrong—there's a dandy job waiting for all of us jolly cap and gowns... hup, hup, hup, two, three...

If I thought it'd do good, I'd mention... the roads on campus aren't... Parents Day is dangerous... finals find seniors exempt... Gonnemann writes local editors... if I had a pie of Sn Unkempt we'd run it... the phone Wartburg Hall should be disconnected because with each buzz the TV set hicups... more money and less things to buy would make for a happier life... but since it wouldn't do much good, I'll not bother to mention it.

Footnotes To Faith: Pray To Be Stronger

By Alberta Brandt

How many of us here at Wartburg really gain from a personal devotional life. How many of us take time out during the day to sit down and talk to our God?

It is hard to do that here. We think that we have time when chapel and four our devotions or even convocations take care of that. Sometimes we feel we have much religion shoved down our throats that we can pass up private devotions.

And yet, what can be more refreshing or enriching to one's soul, than a half hour with God? Those who are in a joy a rich devotional life. The burdens seem to rise from your shoulders and you feel that your problems can be solved after all.

Jesus says, "Come unto me, all that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

We can share our joys with God also. He wants to share our happiness, as well as hear our pleas for help in time of need. Yes, that is one of the sins we so often commit. We wait until we're in trouble, then we go for help.

Brandt

We pray that God will make things easier for us.

But this is what Phillips Brooks says, "Do not pray for easy times. Pray to be stronger men! Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers. Pray for powers equal to your tasks!"

When we can rep such blessings from praying and feel better for having done so, why don't we take advantage of this? He has promised to hear us. Why don't we use the source of our strength?

"Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, uttered or unexpressed, The motion of a hidden fire That trembles in the breast."

O Thou, by whom we come to God,
The Life, the Truth, the Way,
The path of prayer Thyself
thou tread—
Lord, teach us how to pray."

NATIONAL NOTIONS

By Stan Bender

The Bandung Asian-African Conference of 29 countries representing more than half the people of the world has come and gone, and is the air of victory for its passing? Sponsored by the Chinese Powers (China, Pakistan, Burma, Indonesia and Ceylon) in the hope of uniting policy, it has hardly accomplished this purpose.

When the conference opened, Nehru, the great neutralizer, was ready to accept the homage of the other nations and welcome them to his camp, but Nehru recoiled without taking into account the personalities of the conference. These were not the docile Asians of the brown, yellow and black eagles of international politics. The largest for the conference was colonialism; the imperialism of the West was taken to task by the neutralists to the neglect of that other type of colonialism—Communism.

The friends of the West were quick to point out that Communism was a slavery under the guise

Cafeteria's Manager Grube Daily Plans 1,200 Meals, Smiles On Menu Problems

By Helen Niederwimmer
Tribune Staff Writer

Have you ever given thought to how many meals are served in the cafeteria during the year, how much food is consumed and the problem of planning the week's menu?

These are just a few of the duties and problems that face Mrs. Henry Grube, the manager of the cafeteria.

Figures from last year, show that 1,200 meals were served per day in the cafeteria," stated the ever-cheerful Mrs. Grube.

With the enrollment increase this year, that figure has been raised considerably. In addition, 150 meals were served per day in the summer school session, besides 10,850 extra meals served for the various conventions held at Wartburg. These figures represent work time and planning done by Mrs. Grube and her helpers.

Ordering Food Job Big
Ordering food and supplies for the cafeteria is not as simple as ordering food for your own family," said Mrs. Grube.

How would you like to order 50 dozen rolls, 12 loaves of bread for toast, 1 1/2 large-sized boxes of oatmeal, 2 boxes of cereal, 18 gallons of vegetables and 225 pounds of potatoes?

Meal planning, which takes time and thought, is worked out one week in advance. First of all, the meal for each day of the week is decided upon, and then the rest of the meal is built around it.

Careful consideration is given, so that the seven basic foods are included, as well as the essential vitamins needed for good health. Oven Space Oriented
Because of the shortage of space for ovens and cookers in the cafeteria, meals have to be planned so that the entire meal does not have to be in the oven. For example, if a pie is planned for dessert, the main dish would have to be soup since it is prepared in a cooker.

"This problem of meal planning will be solved to a great extent next year when the cafeteria is moved to the new Student Memorial Union," stated Mrs. Grube.
